Mr. William J. Casey
Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, DC - 20505

Dear Bill:

On Thursday, November 17 and Friday, November 18 the National Conservative Foundation will sponsor a high-level, off-the-record National Defense Briefing in Washington, D.C. to focus attention on the Administration's efforts to rebuild our national defense.

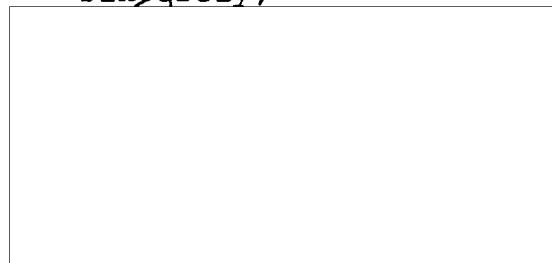

I would like to put together major defense contractors as well as conservative grassroots leaders with the top spokesmen of this Administration and the Congress to discuss what steps our government needs to take in order to strengthen the defenses of this nation and the Free World.

I have invited President Reagan and Vice President Bush, Ambassadors Kirkpatrick and Lichenstein, the Joint Chiefs of Staff and leaders of the House and Senate to speak at this conference.

I now formally invite you as a leading spokesman in your field to participate as well. One of the panels in this Conference will deal with the CIA and I would like you to address this issue. Our schedule for November 17 and 18 is still flexible. Therefore, I ask that your office call our Conference Coordinator, [redacted] as soon as possible in order that we may make your arrangements.

I think the issue of national defense is a top priority for this Administration and the conservative movement. Your participation would lend the expertise necessary to ensure its success. I hope you can join us.

Sincerely,

JTD/scb

12176* MORAL MAJORITY (Conservative) (MM)

305 Sixth St. Phone: (804) 528-0070
 Lynchburg, VA 24504 Dr. Ronald S. Godwin, V. Pres.
 Founded: 1979. State Groups: 50. Political movement founded by Rev. Jerry Falwell dedicated to convincing morally conservative Americans that it is their duty to register and vote for candidates who agree with their moral principles. Was organized in response to developments such as the legalization of abortion, the spread of pornography and agitation for homosexual rights - developments which the movement feels indicates that the U.S. is experiencing a "terrible moral decline." The group does not specifically endorse candidates by name, but strives through letters, leaflets, and mass rallies to make clear where candidates stand relative to issues important to MMI. The organization claims membership of 72,000 ministers and four million lay persons, with chapters in all 50 states. Publications: Report (newspaper), monthly.

12177* NATIONAL CHRISTIAN ACTION COALITION (Conservative) (NCAC)

5515 Cherokee Ave., Suite 306 Phone: (703) 941-8962
 Alexandria, VA 22312 William Billings, Exec. Dir.
 Founded: 1977. Members: 41,000. Staff: 4. Churches, Christian school administrators; local and state "good government" groups; interested individuals. Works for or against legislation in accordance with its stances on social issues, defense, and economic policy. Supports capital punishment, increased defense spending, a balanced federal budget, a tuition tax credit for parents enrolling their children in private schools, and passage of a Human Life Amendment. Opposes abortion, gun control, drafting women and passage of the Equal Rights Amendment. Sponsors Christian Education and Research Foundation (research arm) and Christian Voters' Victory Fund (political action committee) which works to elect and support "pro-family" congressional candidates. Publications: (1) Focus on Freedom, semimonthly; (2) Alert (newsletter), monthly; (3) Family Issues Voting Index, annual; also publishes The Christian's Political Action Manual. Formerly: (1979) Christian School Action.

12178* NATIONAL CONSERVATIVE POLITICAL ACTION COMMITTEE (NCPAC)

1500 Wilson Blvd., Suite 513 Phone: (703) 522-2800
 Arlington, VA 22209 John T. Dolan, Chm.
 Founded: 1974. Staff: 15. Political conservatives seeking to replace liberal politicians with conservatives in office. Unaffiliated with either the Democratic or Republican parties the committee offers candidates such services as: polling, research, campaign management training, advice on media, public opinion trends, press relations and fundraising in lieu of monetary contributions. Believes that well-planned services are more valuable than cash contributions in that a well-defined campaign is more advantageous than one that is simply well-funded. Is working on an "independent expenditure" technique - a campaign expenditure made independent of any candidate's organization. The committee works in state elections, both legislative and gubernatorial, which enables it to directly affect important issues being decided by state legislatures. Publications: Report, quarterly.

12179* NATIONAL PRO-FAMILY COALITION (Conservative) (NPFC)

721 Second St., N.E. Phone: (202) 546-5342
 Washington, DC 20002 Connaught Marshner, Chm.
 Founded: 1980. Members: 2000. Local, state and national organizations comprising pro-family, pro-decency, pro-morality, and pro-life activists. Objective is to achieve a "just and humane society functioning in accordance with the moral imperatives of the Judeo-Christian ethic." Supports policies favoring limited government, free enterprise, strong national defense and traditional values. Acts as clearinghouse for the development of strategy and the exchange of information among members.

12180* ORDER OF THE CROSS SOCIETY (Conservative) (OCS)

901 Washington St. Phone: (817) 725-6635
 Wilmington, DE 19801 Rev. K. Chandler, Steward
 Founded: 1975. Staff: 2. Objective is to promote "a return to biblical principles in the organization and exercise of civil government, a strengthening of the family as a basic governing unit, and the proper conduct of business activities under the Rule of God." Encourages people to examine their lives, financial affairs, and activities and decline from accepting laws or government benefits that they consider inconsistent with Christianity; questions the morality of programs such as government subsidization, legalized abortion, and social security. Encourages research, publication of books, and seminars on related issues; emphasis is on a business audience. Maintains 2000 volume library on business and economics. Publications: Envoy, bimonthly; also publishes business books. Convention/Meeting: annual.
